Margarita

Silver Tequila - Cointreau - Lime Juice

While the definitive origin remains unclear, one thing's for sure: the Margarita's legacy speaks for itself. Refreshing simplicity and endless adaptation.

Espresso Martini

Vodka - Kahlua - Espresso

Dick Bradsell, London 1983, initially calling it "vodka espresso", before it evolved into the iconic drink we know today.

Cosmopolitan

Vodka - Cranberry Juice - Lime Juice - Cointreau

Cheryl Cook, a bartender known as the "Martini Queen of South Beach" was looking for a more visually appealing twist on the martini. She made the cosmopolitan using vodka, citrus juice and cranberry.

Limoncello Spritz

Limoncello, Prosecco, Soda, Lemon

Its exact birthplace is unclear, but some speculate it originated in southern Italy, the Amalfi coast, the ancestral home of limoncello.

Aperol Spritz

Aperol, Prosecco, Soda, Orange

1919 in Padova, Italy. Brothers Luigi and Silvio Barbieri, inspired by French apéritifs and the spritz trend, create Aperol - a bittersweet, low-alcohol orange liqueur made for spritz.

The Hugo

Prosecco - Elderflower Liqueur - Soda Water - Mint

The Hugo Spritz is a delightful Italian cocktail that captures the essence of summer and has been described as the most refreshing drink in the world.

Azure Spritz

Blue Curacao - Prosecco - Lemonade

Signature blue hue and sweet orange of the Curaçao. This modern addition to the spritz style is sweet, bubbly and extremely refreshing.
